HISTORIC MANSION FOR A HOSPITAL

Mark H. Wentworth Home For Chronic Invalids Has Interesting History

The Mark H. Wentworth Home for Chronic Invalids, the gift of which was exclusively announced in The Herald, is the latest addition to the charitable institutions of this city, and it promises to fill a long want where real charity is needed the most. The new institution is made possible through the generosity of Miss Susan J. Wentworth.

Miss Wentworth, who has long been prominent in the charitable affairs of the city has given the historical Gov. Wentworth mansion on the corner of Pleasant and Wentworth streets for this purpose and furthermore has endowed it with $1000 a year for the first five years. The old mansion has been entirely renovated and modernized with the addition of three new bathrooms. The fine old furnishings have been replaced with modern furniture, but the historic features of the house are in every way preserved. The rooms are all large and airy and the entire house is admirably fitted for a hospital.

There is a large garden extending from the house to the shore of South Pond and the view in the rear of the house is beautiful.

It is expected that the home will be opened by the first of the year. The institution is given in the name of her late father, whose name it bears.

The house is one of the best preserved of the old Colonial mansions of Portsmouth, and was built about 1769 for the late Governor John Wentworth, who received his commission succeeding Gov. Benning Wentworth in 1767. At the beginning of the Revolution he was the Royal Governor and consequently defended the Crown, while at the same time his father and uncle were active participants in the patriot cause.

In 1775 an exciting time took place in front of the residence, when the people secured a fieldpiece and threatened to bombard the house unless a Royalist by the name of Fenton who had sought refuge with the Governor was given up.

Fearing serious trouble, Fenton was given up and the Governor not feeling any too secure made his escape through his garden to the water in the rear of the house and was rowed to Fort William and Mary, now Fort Constitution, at New Castle the mob entered and ransacked the house. In one of the front rooms a ruined chimney piece is still shown as the result of their visit.

Gov. Wentworth went to England where he was created baronet and appointed Governor of Nova Scotia in 1792, where he died in 1820. The house has remained in possession of the Wentworth family up to the present time.

SOCIALIST LECTURER COMING

Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, Mass., a Congregational clergyman and Socialist lecturer will deliver a stereopticon lecture in Socialist hall, 23 Congress street on next Friday Dec. 1st at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Sawyer is a well known writer and speaker upon Socialist and labor topics, and the lecture he is to give Friday night is an out line sketch of the history of the working people from the earliest days down to the present. The lecture is illustrated by 80 well chosen views, and has been delivered in many places and is well spoken of. An advance sale of tickets has met with good success, and local socialists look forward to a good meeting.

LADIES TO GIVE GIFT

Will Present St. John's Lodge With Valuable Mahogany Cabinet for Its Treasures

Last June when St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. and A. M., royally celebrated the 175th institution of the lodge, the committee did not overlook their lady friends. That they might fully enjoy the festivities of the memorable occasion, one evening was set apart for their special benefit when they were entertained and regaled.

This recognition and entertainment was pleasing to the wives and daughters of the members of the lodge and they have been for some time devising means to show their appreciation of the fact.

A while ago an energetic committee, composed of women, began the collection of funds for the purchase of a handsome Mahogany Cabinet and case of drawers to present to St. John's Lodge.

There was a generous response to their appeal for funds and the cabinet will be presented to the lodge on Tuesday evening next. The cabinet is intended as a receptacle for the numerous historic souvenirs and mementoes owned by St. John's lodge.

The gift will be accepted in behalf of St. John's lodge by Worshipful Master William B. Randall and following the acceptance there will be an entertainment, followed by a banquet.

Mr. Clifford, who is president of the Marine Survivors of Samar association says that Massachusetts, Maryland and Pennsylvania have honored their missing men of the Samar siege. He and Oliver L. Frisbee have asked the Hall of Heroes commission to honor Foster and are eager for further opportunity to honor his memory, says Mr. Clifford.

CIRCUIT COURTS TO BE ABOLISHED

Every State in the Union Affected By New Order--Judges Will Be Transferred.

Washington, Nov. 28.—In every corner to meet. Arrangements for State of the Union there will pass this change are now being perfected out of existence in January next a in Washington and throughout the historic court practically as old as circuits. The elimination of the circuit State itself. On that day seven circuit courts was one of the reforms ty-seven United States Circuit courts provided for in the new judiciary will cease to do business at the 276 code, enacted by Congress on March different place they have been accus-3, 1911, to become effective Jan. 1, 1912. The code provides that after the latter date there should be only the district courts, the nine circuit courts of appeal and the supreme courts. The existence of the circuit courts since 1891 when the circuit courts of appeal were created, has been regarded as expensive and superfluous.

The twenty-nine circuit judges will not lose their positions, as they will continue to sit in the circuit courts of appeal and help in the district courts. All the clerks of the circuit courts will have their positions abolished. At the same time restrictions will be placed upon the amount that district court clerks may draw as salary. Under a special law, the clerk of the district and circuit courts in eastern Kentucky was entitled to $3,500 and fees for each place in which either court sat. As each court sat in five different places he was entitled to $35,000 a year if the fees amounted to that much. Other clerks were unusually favored by special legislation. Hereafter it will be impossible for a clerk to receive more than $3,500.

The passing away of the circuit courts is only one of the reforms of the new code. After Jan. 1 the chief justice of the United States will receive $15,000 per annum and each associate justice $14,500. Under the new code, jurors for Federal courts will receive their summons by registered mail instead of by personal visits by deputy United States marshals and the Government will have six peremptory challenges in selecting Federal court juries instead of three. Still another reform will come in the shape of a prohibition against members of Congress practicing before the court of claims here.

BITS OF SPORT

Everyone admits that the football rules need revision. The only question is "How?" There are many changes to be made, but we all have to wait and see just what the rules committee will do.

Abe Attell one of the cleverest little scrappers who ever donned a glove is getting himself back into shape by fighting third raters and has a few bouts on for this week. Thursday he will meet Patsy Kline in New York, and Saturday night he is booked to meet Charley White in Pittsburgh.

During the baseball season every fan reads many stories about how Wagner, the Pittsburgh shortstop, is going back. Well, he only may be, but fans manages to land at the top of the National league hitters at the end of the season. He knows that he cannot draw much more money out of the Pittsburgh club for his service so he does not try to knock the cover off the ball.

It is very probable that Harry Wolverton, the former major league ball player, will be head of the New York American league club next season. He is a brainy player and is well capable of taking charge of the Highlanders. He managed the Newark club in the Eastern league and was a great success in the New Jersey city, and since then has made good as manager in the Pacific Coast league.

According to reports received from Chicago Orvie Overall, the former Cub pitcher has joined the ranks of the outlaws, having signed a contract to play on the Pacific coast. He is said to be trying to get Three-Fingered Brown and Harry Steinfield to signed with him. The outlaw leagues may be all right for fellows like these who have been in the major leagues for many years and are abject at the end of their rope in the fast company but for young players who hope to make good the organized clubs are the ones to hitch up with.

A baseball fan attending a game in the American league next season will have to think twice to get his bearings, as there will be so many changes in the management of the clubs. Of the eight clubs in the league there will be five new managers, with the possible chance of six. The only men sure of their jobs are Hugh Jennings in Detroit and Connie Mack in Philadelphia. St. Louis is likely to make a change thought there is a chance that Bobby Wallace will lead the club against next season.

Battling Nelson, who has been traveling a rough road in his effort to get back into condition to take another crack at the lightweight championship, will enter the ring Thursday night at 10 o'clock to meet a New York boxer named Sperry. Many writers claim that Bat is all in, but the majority of fans who saw

Leonard Frank of Minnesota, Who, Football Critics Say, is Best Tackle of Season in West

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 29.—on to dash off a tackle position Frank Eastern football experts say that Eddie Hart of Princeton is the best tackle of the season, while the western critics hand out the palm to Leonard Frank of Minnesota. The last mentioned has been the sensation of the Western gridiron this season in the position. His work, both on the defense and offense, has been wonderful all season. Frank's brilliant work in the game with Chicago will long be remembered by the followers of football here. Whenever a back field man was called up-him in action against Monte Dale are of a different opinion. If the battle which Nelson is still putting up are considered the best that is in a dead one then there are many scrappers going around the country who should never don a glove as the Dane can beat the head off a great number of them.

The game between Carlisle and Brown, Thursday, should be a great contest. On the merits of the teams by their showing this fall Brown did not have a chance, but the Providence men have had their slump, and should come out of it and put up a great contest against the Indians. Brown supporters expect a victory as they figure that the Redskins have lost their ball, giving the defeat which Syracuse administered to them as the proof of this statement. This defeat will not have much bearing on the outcome of Thursday's contest, as the Indians are a light eleven and were naturally defeated by Syracuse as the game was played on a wet and slippery field.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM GOES TO MANCHESTER

The Portsmouth High school will play the Stevens High of Claremont, at Manchester, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. This has been decided upon, and Richards High will not be taken on. When the Richards high of Newport telegraphed for a game on Saturday last it was understood that they had defeated Stevens High, but it appeared that they had only played a tie game, so that Stevens High had the better claim for the title.

If enough people can be secured to make the trip to Manchester with the team on Saturday a special train will be chartered to run during the forenoon, and back after the game, otherwise the team will go up on the regular at 8.30 and come back on the regular at 6.10.

There is one thing that should be provided for and that is good officials and none of the important positions referee, umpire and field judge should be held by anybody from either Portsmouth or Claremont.

MAYOR HALL WINS EASILY

Defeats Eugene F. Dixon By 844 Voters

Dover, Nov. 28.—The annual city election today was a one sided contest. Mayor Dwight Hall was re-elected for his second term by 844 majority over Eugene F. Dixon, Democrat. The vote was 1366, Dixon 522. Hall led his ticket in every ward except Ward 1, where he ran even and where Dixon ran ahead of his own ticket by about 70 votes. This was Dixon's home ward.

The Republicans elected their full tickets except in Ward 2, where there was much slugging, and in Ward 5, the Democratic stronghold, where they had no ticket.

In Ward 4 Alderman John Main, Dem., was re-elected. Alderman Stephen W. Scruton, Dem., was defeated by Councilman Erving F. Wentworth, Rep., who sought his seat in the upper board, by 29 majority. Ashton Rollins, son of banker Edward W. Rollins of Boston was defeated by Alderman Main by 23 majority.

The school committee vote in Ward 2 was close. John W. Hogan, Rep., received 302 votes to 288 for William F. Howard, Dem. There are 11 Republican ballots on which Howard's name was written, it is stated, and Hogan's left unscratched.

Hogan was re-elected ward clerk. Ex-Mayor George J. Foster was re-elected to the School Board in Ward 1 for his 26th year.

The aldermen and councilmen, members of the school and assessors elected are as follows: Ward 1—Guy M. Wiggin, Samuel Meserve, alderman; John W. Morrison; Walter L. Rollins; Otto B. Smart, councilmen; George J. Foster, two years, school; William E. Riney, two years, assessor.

Ward 2—John Main and Erving F. Wentworth, aldermen; Charles H. Clark, Harry O. Demers, Albert E. Ashley, councilmen; John W. Hogan, two years, School Committee and ward clerk.

A BRAIN WORKER

Must Have the Kind of Food That Nourishes Brain

"I am a literary man whose nervous energy is a great part of my stock in trade, and ordinarily I have little patience with breakfast foods and the extravagant claims made of them. But I cannot withhold my acknowledgment of the debt I owe to Grape-Nuts food.

"I discovered long ago that the very bulkiness of the ordinary diet was not calculated to give one a clear head, the power of sustained accurate thinking. I always felt heavy and sluggish in mind as well as body after eating the ordinary meal, which diverted the blood from the brain to the digestive apparatus.

"I tried foods easy of digestion, but found them usually deficient in nutriment. I experimented with many breakfast foods: till I reached Grape-Nuts. And then the problem was solved.

"Grape-Nuts agreed with me perfectly from the beginning, satisfying my hunger and supplying the nutriment that so many other prepared foods lack.

"I had not been using it very long before I found that I was turning out an unusual quantity and quality of work. Continued use has demonstrated to my entire satisfaction that Grape-Nuts food contains the elements needed by the brain and nervous system of the hard working public writer." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pinks. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1911

Did you get a lot of letters yesterday from your New Hampshire friends, writing forth in glowing terms the merits of the Granite State? Or is it possible that you are so uncharitable as not to have any New Hampshire friends?—Boston Globe.

The old saying that "you have to go away from home to learn the news" was illustrated to me yesterday when a Portsmouth, N. H., news carrier called up the Boston daily to "tip it off" on the piece of news that he said had just happened at the North Station in this city. Investigation proved the information to be true, the police later corroborating his statement.—Boston Post.

It was New Hampshire's Advertising day and the newspaper man was only keeping up the record of New Hampshire's only sea port in furnishing news from one of the best news centres in America.

The discussion of the matter of pensions for life savers is again coming to the front, and the general opinion seems to be that they should be granted just as readily as they are to soldiers and sailors of the wars.

Who are more deserving of being pensioned than the brave life savers? These sturdy men who are willing to risk their lives at any time in the cause of humanity are certainly deserving of pensions and it is to be hoped that the present session of Congress will take action in this important matter. It must be remembered that these men are given employment only two months in the year and the loss of two months' pay can ill be afforded by the men, the greater number of whom are married.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS.

Chinese women are taking their places on the firing line. This is carrying out the militant idea to an extent that even the London suffragette must regard with doubt.

The Turks will stand very little chance if Italy can persuade all its Camorrista, blackhanders and brigands, in general to enlist to fight them.

In the midst of all this stress Wu Tingfang, doubtless, thinks regretfully of (or rather) he spent of his changing fortune with the American interviewers.

The problem of who shall lead the democratic presidential ticket is so acute that some of the forecasters are moved to content themselves with figuring on second place.

Col. Bryan occasionally announces his retirement from politics, but he always takes his trusty megaphone along.

Mr. Roosevelt apparently desires it to be understood by his friends that when he is ready for a political boom of any kind he will attend to it himself.

With each descending sun goes another precious Christmas shopping day. The early buyer gets the pick of the stock.

John D. Rockefeller may yet organize a philanthropy for the benefit of millionaires who invested the wrong way.

An Army and Navy foot ball game always leaves the loser with the satisfaction of knowing that it took high class talent to beat it.

There will be times when ex-President Diaz will find it difficult to refrain from saying "I told you so."

French duellists now stand out on the field of honor and dare each other to shoot.

The fact that the prisoner called himself "James Smith" instead of "John Smith" may indicate a nature of great subtlety and guile.

As in the case of some notable statutes, the interpretation of a treaty may be as important as its original text.

The dangers of foot ball are not fully past until the evening's celebration is concluded.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Suffragettes Amuck

It would not be easy to imagine anything much more melancholy and depressing than the spectacle which was presented in London Tuesday in the outbreak of the militant suffragettes. A considerable number of women of intelligence and character violently strove to suggest their lack of both those qualities. Women tried to show lack of womanhood. Would-be voters tried to demonstrate their unfitness for the franchise. Those who were nominally making appeal to equity and morals allied themselves with the forces of lawlessness and vice. It was an insane performance, but unhappily it was not unprecedented. Other similar scenes have been enacted there and elsewhere, and probably will be again. That is why it was most disheartening. One acute eruption can be expected at the North Station in this city, the most distressing of maladies, for the individual body or for the body politic.—New York Tribune.

Auto Signals

Autoists may signify with their hands their intention of making a turn to the right in the day time, but when darkness had settled this made of signalling is, to say the least, quite inefficient. Among the arrangements invented to eliminate the danger consequent to such inability to signal, is an attachment which has been seen but little in this State. This arrangement is a rectangular box-shaped affair about two feet long and six inches wide and is attached to the rear of the car.

The one in question is made of wood and the upper half of the face was fitted with red glass, divided into three spaces, behind the glass of each space being an incandescent lamp, with a reflector over the top. Under the spaces, in large characters are printed the words, "Let," "Stop," "Right." The lights are manipulated by the chauffeur and if he desires to make a turn into the next street to the right he signifies his intention by pushing an indicator and the driver in a following vehicle sees a red "light," its meaning being very obvious. Or if he wishes to stop his machine and the red "Stop" but ton and the red "Stop" is shown on the rear of his machine. This gives the other driver time to turn out before getting so close that it would be necessary for him to reverse, his car which in crowded districts, is not done without difficulty, delay and sometimes, danger. Consequently such an arrangement is beneficial to those concerned with the traffic as well as with the personal safety of themselves and others.—Portland Express.

A Solution of the Trouble.

Secretary Meyer has not been stampeded by the latest cry of alarm uttered by that marine artist whose obsession it is that the fleet is in such deplorable condition as to be of little use except to make pictures of it. It was not necessary for this hysterical critic to warn us that the fleet is in adequately provided with supplies, vessels, colliers, tank and refrigerating ships, for example. Without those operations in time of war on the far flung frontiers of our country—to wit the enemy's coasts—would obviously be embarrassed. The country is not ignorant respecting the matter, neither is Congress; although this critic supposes that almost every body is so dense as to believe that an efficient Navy as exists if there are plenty of battleships. The Secretary of the Navy, of course cannot be accused of such ignorance.

The thought of the mighty fighting ship, Skeered-o'-nothin' helpless in the face of the enemy for lack of a few tons of coal or a barrel of oil, or paralyzing to the patriotic imagination. The problem is vexing, nevertheless, considering that no great number of supply auxiliaries are required in time of peace. The maintenance of a fleet of these craft numerous enough for war purpose would impose a heavy fixed charge upon the naval establishment. It has the reputation of Congress that the fight-ships should be had anyway, and the question of auxiliaries approach with more leisure. Congress has been too leisurely perhaps but its patriotism and good sense are not to be impugned. In countries so situated with respect to all possible foes that the Navy is bound to be the first line of defence it is sound policy to have the fleet always on a war footing, even if the Army is maintained in the nucleus stage. This has usually been the practice of the United States, even at periods when the armament itself was ridiculously small. There is no question that for lack of supply vessels and perhaps in such arms is not prepared for a first class war at present time.

Secretary Meyer has a plan for reconciling problem of provision of the auxiliaries mentioned with the consideration of expense for material. That would be in storage pending the event of war. He invites Congress to contemplate the usefulness to the Navy of colliers tank and provision ships which the Panama Canal service will require. This implies the cooperation of the War Department and it is probable that his suggestions have the approval of the Secretary of War. How many ships will be needed for the Canal assuming Government control and operation in such respect may be roughly estimated. The Canal fleet would be available to the Navy in time of war, or if technically attached to the Navy would be available to the peaceful service of the Canal. The whole question of facilities for the Canal and their operation, is yet to be decided to be sure. This recommendation of Secretary Meyer's will doubtless hasten the decision, and in favor of Government operation of practically all facilities. Constructed with a view to the need of the Navy ships of this type would apparently be just what the War Department will require for the Canal Service as well so far as the traffic at Panama are concerned. A sufficient fleet of such ships would be numerous enough to sustain the Navy for some years to come.—Providence Journal.

WHY NOT THE LADIES?

The Salem Veterans Firemen Association now have a Ladies Aid Society. Of course they are not trained for any work on the brakes but figure extensively in the social end of the Witch city boys during the winter.

If the Portsmouth Veterans should add the ladies to Franklin Pierce Association the combination would be a winner and no red shirt organization could compete with them in all around activity. Several of them have already given the matter much thought and like the Salem boys the Franklin Pierce may yet be heard from in this matter.

MUST PASS EXAMINATION

Post Office Clerks Must Know Every Office in State and Quickest Connection

There is trouble ahead for the post office clerks of this city and as for that matter in other parts of the state and the Union as well, as it is supposed the new orders relating to the taking of annual examinations by these servants of the government are general. These orders have but recently been received at the local office but their coming has caused a sensation and set those whom they effect, to thinking and in many cases studying. They are short and to the point in effect being instructions that all those engaged in putting up outgoing mail must pass the same examination regarding the state as does the railway mail clerk. This means in a nutshell that the local clerks must know every postoffice in the state of N. H. and its nearest railway connection. Not only this, but they must be able to "put up cards" for the entire state; that is, properly place in receptacles a certain number of cards bearing an address to one town or hamlet in the state, and do it nearly perfectly or with a score of 95 per cent. When it is taken into consideration that this means the memorizing of over 1,000 postoffices and their nearest railroad connections, it can easily be seen that it is no small task which the clerks have before them.

This order came like a flash from a clear sky and has caused consternation wherever known. The requirements which it contains call for something entirely new in the line of an examination for a clerk, but places before them a very puzzling proposition indeed. Besides the taking of the examination which will be held in this city in the early part of February, the clerks will be obliged to furnish themselves with a case and set of cards. This will mean the outlay of quite a few dollars.

The object of this examination, it is said, is to facilitate the handling of the outgoing mails and to relieve the railway mail clerks who are pushed with work at all times. This will come through the more perfect sorting of the mail in the local offices, thus relieving the railway clerk of a part of the detail in the performance of his duties.

Letter carriers are not affected by the new order.

A PHONEY COP

On Tuesday evening while Raymond Dixon of Kittery and two other young men from that town were on their way to the ferry on Ceres street they were held up by a man in civilian clothes at the corner of Market Square and Market street who picked Dixon from the three placed him under arrest.

The young man asked why he should be arrested and was told that he already knew and to come quietly to the police station. The man started with Dixon up Bow street and when near the corner of Chapel street Dixon got in a few sidesteps and landed the phony cop on the ground. He then hurried up the street where he met patrolman Doherty, who listened to his story and then went on a hunt for the man posing as an officer but could get no line on him. He was evidently a freak and what the Kittery lads should have done was to have arrested him.

RAILROAD STATION DESTROYED

White River Junction, Vt., Nov. 28.—The Union Railroad Station was burned to the ground today, causing a loss of about $30,000, mostly covered by insurance.

The fire was one of the most spec- acular that has been seen along the valley of the upper Connecticut Riv- er. The structure had a wooden roof and burned like tinder.

The local firemen, unable to check the flames in the station, directed their efforts to saving surrounding property. While the fire was burn- ing the freight house, the beef sheds of Swift & Co., and the hide and tallow establishment of A. J. Put- kins caught fire, but in each case the blaze was soon extinguished.

The fire broke out about 4 a. m., and although its cause has not been determined definitely, defective wir- ing between the floors of the build- ing is believed to have been respon- sible. The fire spread so quickly that by the time the local depart- ment arrived on the scene with its limited equipment of fire-fighting ap- paratus, the station was beyond hope of saving.

All of the mail, express, baggage, tickets and mileage in the station were removed, and some of the fur- nishings were carried out.

The telegraph office in the station—the largest relay point north of Boston and the most important tel- egraphic point between Boston and Montreal—was burned out, but by 8 o'clock all wire communication had been restored in a temporary office near the station.

The size of the train yards about the station made it possible also for all railroad traffic to be handled with only slight variation from the running schedule.

The Union Station was owned jointly by the Boston & Maine and the Central Vermont Railroads, the former system owning two-thirds and the Central Vermont having a one-third interest in the property. The Boston & Maine Railroad had not completed improvements to the station that had necessitated an out- lay of $20,000.

The heaviest loser by the fire is Dr. L. W. Daly of White River Junction, owner of the restaurant in the station. His restaurant was valued at $20,000. This loss is partly covered by insurance, and a Temporary ticket office was opened today in the Junction House, a hotel across the tracks from the station, and arrangement was made to use the freight house

HEIRS SOUGHT FOR MILLIONS

Dover, Nov. 28.—According to a letter received in this city today dated Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 24, and signed Charles N. Page, a fortune of several millions, which has been lying in the hands of trustees many years, is awaiting claimants, who are de- scendants of Thomas Page, who at an early date lived in Leominster, Mass., and moved from there to New Hampshire in 1781.

Mr. Page wrote to a newspaper in this city to ascertain whether there were any Pages, Wright, Dumas or Dumesays living here who could trace their lineage back to Thomas Page. The letter gives no information as to where the Page millions are lo- cated or in what condition they exist, but it is supposed that it must be a Western fortune, made possibly in mining or agriculture. It also omits to mention the names of the trustees of the fortune. The writer is thought to be one, however.

There are a score of persons in name, as revealed in the city direc- tory; there are several Wrights in the city, and the last surviving mem- ber of the local Dunn family, Dr. Charles S. Dunn, now resides in Hav- erhill.

The Pages of this city are descend- ants, it is stated of Robert Page who settled in Hampton, N. H., in 1695. He had a son Thomas born about that year. This Thomas had a grand- son Thomas, born in 1702 at Hampton who died, according to the records, in 1780, in that town. There does not appear to be any other Thomas Page in that family, in the Hampton records and the name does not ap- pear in the Dover records. Still it is regarded as possible that a de- scendant of the Thomas Page men- tioned in the letter resides in this sec- tion.

PRES. TAFT HAS MESSAGE READY

Washington, Nov. 28.—President Taft's annual message to Congress was turned out in record time at the Government printing office here yes- terday. Corrections made by the President and Secretary Hilles al- lowed the message to go to the print- ers shortly before one o'clock. It was estimated to be about 6,000 words in length, but in less than three hours the proofs were back in the White House. The President glanced over the sheets from the printing office and the cabinet will make a final revision.

President Taft has accepted an invitation to attend the dinner of the Aero Club of America in New York Jan. 27.

President Taft, accompanied by Secretary Hilles and Major Archibald Butt yesterday strolled through the business section of the city. The President was kept busy returning the greetings of shoppers; Lieutenant John W. Timmons, U. S. N., has been designated as chief naval aide to President Taft, suc- ceeding Lieutenant Commander Leigh C. Palmer, whose recent pro- motion relieves him from duty at the White House. Lieutenant Tim- mons is a son-in-law of former Vice President Fairbanks. At present he is stationed in the ordnance office in the Navy Department.

Richard L. Jervis, one of the six- foot secret service men who guarded President Taft on his recent long trip, and has been on duty at the White House for several years, will be operated on for appendicitis to- day. Mr. Taft himself ordered Jer- vis to the hospital, to which usually only army men are admitted. Dr. Thomas L. Rhoades, the army sur- geon, who accompanied the Presi- dent on his trip, will perform the operation.

Will Tackle the Yankee Again

The submerged wreck of the Yankee has not been abandoned to its fate by any means by Arbuckle, the New York contractor, who undertook some months ago to raise the ship and return it to the New York navy yard. No work has been done on the Yankee for many months, and it has been only within the last few days that the Navy Department has heard anything on the subject from Mr. Arbuckle, who has been in Europe looking up new methods of raising vessels, and who now says he is confident of success. He will apply his facilities with renewed energy to the rescue of the Yankee and the results are awaited with considerable interest by the naval authorities.

This is Strong Enough

The crew of the U. S. S. Patapasco who have recently got together a tag of war team on that boat say they have heard considerable hot air from navy men on other ships as well as from civilian teams on this side of the river, but have yet to see the men that care to go on the opposite end of the rope with them. If any of them want to pull and have the money to go with it, it's up to them to communicate with Capt. Bayard of the navy team.

Emerson Pianos.

There are some good points about most pianos--no doubt about that. Pianos are like people--some folks are pleasant company for a short time, others improve upon acquaintance. As a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, neither is a piano to be judged by one or two good qualities. It is the union of the important parts of a piano that settles its value. The EMERSON PIANO has no weak spots. It is an all-round honest instrument. It is like an old friend--it has been tried and not found wanting.
